twenty days' notice, his day in court and his answer has been filed.

Mr. Burasdale asked if in his answer Judge Campbell did not complain that he had had no notice of one of the charges. One sears admitted this, but contended that the judge had had all the notice contemplated by the Constitution. Mr. Burksonle asked if the judge had had sometime of the astack on Crawford, Mr. Anderson volunteered the answer that he (Campbell) had had notice of all the charges before the House acted on the report of its committee.

Taking up the Mcliwaine report, Mr. Bears refuted separately the contention therein contained, denying the violation of the Bill of Rights and of the basic principles of law in the procedure had in this case. The speaker quoted from the record it the Shumate case, admitter and without the forms of court procedure. Daniel, Bland, Grimsloy, Critcher, Cardwell and other great lawyers were his guides in this case. The Campbell case had followed closely the precedent
